Applied Science Private University Participates in an International Public Health Training Program in China

13/10/2026

Dr. Ali Harbi, representing Applied Science Private University, participated as a member of the Jordanian delegation in the International Public Health Training Program for Developing Countries, held in the People's Republic of China from July 9 to July 22, 2026, following an invitation from the Jordanian Nursing Council.

The training program included a series of theoretical lectures on the development and evolution of community health services in the People’s Republic of China, in addition to field visits to several community health centers, where participants observed community healthcare delivery and exchanged professional experiences with local experts. The program also featured visits to a number of historical and cultural landmarks that reflect China’s rich ancient civilization.

Dr. Harbi noted that participating in the program provided a valuable opportunity to learn from China’s experience in community health, strengthen academic collaboration, and exchange knowledge with professionals from different countries, reflecting Applied Science Private University’s commitment to international engagement and professional development.
